
Bars show project-level output-type hits; structured publication, monograph and award outputs use final-report counts, while application-oriented outputs use coded labels.